Wilson's Wedding Plans

TO WED AT HOME OF FIANCEE

By International News Service.
 WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—President Woodrow Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt, widow of the owner of a big Washington city establishment, will be married within the next two months.

The wedding will take place in the home of the bride-to-be at No. 1308 Twentieth street, and will be an extremely quiet affair, only a few relatives and the most intimate of friends being present.

The time and place of the wedding, while not officially announced, became known today.

Mrs. Galt decided on where the wedding was to be held. The President, it was known, desired a very quiet affair, but he deferred entirely to his fiancée's wishes and left the decision to her. Mrs. Galt confided her date to the President today, that he wedding take place at her home and that it be very quiet.

The exact date has not been decided, but it is known that the wedding will be held within two months. It is thought that early in November will be the time settled upon later.

RECEIVED WITH CALLERS.
 All Washington on exchanged going but the President coming visiting today. Overlook Mrs. Galt had become the most prominent figure in the capital. She was besieged with callers today, but she denied herself to everyone except the most intimate friends. She declined to make any statement concerning her plans for the White House wedding.

The only statement she would make was:

"I am quite happy. All that has been said at the White House."

She was asked whether she had received an engagement ring.

"Well, really, I can't discuss that," was her reply.

Reports about the White House said that the engagement ring would be purchased tomorrow in New York, probably at Tiffany's.

Mrs. Galt was practically inseparable to the corps of Washington society editors today, but her mother came to the relief of one pregnant young lady who sought a new photograph of the future Mr. Wilson.

EXCHANGE
 FENWAY

The Red Sox management today began exchanging the slips sent out to applicants by mail for real pasteboards, entitling the holder to admission to the World's Series. The exchange will occupy several days and there was no rush on the box office at Fenway Park.

Slip holders must exchange their slips for tickets before 6 o'clock on the day before the first game in Boston or their tickets will be put on public sale.

The first man to present his slip at the box office was R. C. Hyneman of No. 21 Milk street, a regular freckle-faced "fan," whose boast is that he never misses a game. After getting his tickets, Mr. Hyneman started for Philadelphia for the opening game of the series.

Miss A. M. Miller was the first lady fan to get tickets for the games of the World's Series.

FIRST TO GET TICKETS.
 William Applewell, chauffeur for Owner Lannin, was the first to receive his slip through the mail. He made this time by having it addressed to General Delivery and calling for it as soon as he learned that the slips had been mailed. He received the precious letter just six minutes after it had been put in the postoffice.

As soon as the box office window opened a line of several score men formed. Included in the line were two clergymen.

Several thousand of the notices were mailed early today containing announcements to previous mail applicants of their allotment of tickets. The postal authorities promised to do all in their power to make prompt deliveries, and by nightfall they say that practically all notices addressed to Greater Boston will be delivered.

The wait-until-the-last-minute applicants will be disappointed. The applications were made by mail, by phone and in person. Included in the list were several politicians who presented their claims, but there is small hope their claims will be recognized.

These eleven-hour seekers after tickets stand a small chance of getting anything as the previous applicants outnumber the accommodations several times over.

GOES LIKE CLOCKWORK.
 It is not expected there will be any such complaint at the way the ticket distribution is going as there has been at Philadelphia, although of course the distribution is going on.

Experts Differ on Weather for Opening Game

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Uncle Sam's official family of weather experts is divided against itself over the weather for the World's Series. The weather man here said today it was a pretty safe bet that the scrap would get under way at Philadelphia tomorrow, or an arranged. Over in the Quaker City the forecaster got himself generally disliked by saying it would rain.

"I am inclined to think they will play the game tomorrow," said Dr. Harry C. Frankfield, the forecaster there, "although it will be more or less cloudy. A storm is hovering over the Northwest and it holds out some threatening possibilities."

WAR STOCKS IN DECLINE AFTER RESTRICTION

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Meinold adopted by members of the New York Stock Exchange to check speculation had a drastic effect. In an active market where the selling all but reached the high flood of recent buying, war speculations tumbled last. Over 1,500,000 shares changed hands and the speculative leaders went down from 15 to 10 points.

LOVE LETTERS TO FIGURE IN $10,000 SUIT

WORCESTER, Oct. 7.—Miss Katherine McNulty, twenty-three, who has just sued John H. Broderick, of the Police Department, for $10,000, alleging breach of promise, says she has "dozens of letters."

Miss McNulty is an attractive blond. Walsh & Walsh are her counsel. "Our friends know that he is not telling the truth when he says he hardly knew me," she declares. "My friends and I helped him to get his place on the force, and since then he has thought he was too good for me."

"I have a stack of letters. That certainly looks as if he knew me. We started going together more than five years ago. We kept on up to a year ago last June."

Even after we had broken up things might have been different, but he has lost no opportunity to make the object of ridicule."

"He gave me a ring but he has that back now. We went often together to Norwich, Ct., where my brother owns a theater. We frequently went on trips with my brother in my brother's yacht. I do not wish to show that he has not treated me fairly."

Broderick denies that he ever promised to marry Miss McNulty. He adds: "My conscience is entirely clear, and I am going out of the matter with me very much."

The case will probably be tried in the Superior Court next spring.

KATHERINE McNULTY, Worcester girl, who is suing policeman for breach of promise.

WILLARD FIGHT FILM CASE IN COURT

An echo of the Willard Johnson fight for the championship of the world will be heard in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today, when arguments will be made on the appeal of the Kallenberg Exhibition Company, Inc., of New York, in its suit against Willie T. Emmens, collector of customs at Portland, Me.

The films of the heavyweight championship fight at Havana, Cuba, on April 5 last, between Johnson and Willard were barred from entry to this country last June by Collector Emmens.

He acted under a Federal statute which prohibits the importation from abroad of any films or pictorial representations of a prize fight or encounter between pugilists, to be used for public exhibition.

Consequently a bill in equity was filed by the owners of the films, but Federal Judge Hale of Portland dismissed the bill and sustained the collector of customs.

Ex-Assistant United States District Attorney Garland will argue the case for the plaintiff, and United States District Attorney of Portland will represent the government.

Garland's contention is that the Federal law does not apply to these films as they are in a negative state and cannot be shown unless put through an expensive and complicated process.

Further, he states that the law does not make any mention of negative films being prohibited from entry, nor does this law say anything about prohibiting such films when imported for private exhibition.

2,000 to Aid in Big Festival at Storrow Farm

The great harvest festival and barbecue which is to take place on the Storrow Farm, Lincoln, October 9, for the benefit of the National Allied Relief Fund, is being organized on a large scale. At least 2,000 people are expected to take part.

In a large open space, surrounded by trees, two ovens will be roasted whole. Also a pig and sheep. The guests will be served just as they were at the barbecue of medieval days. The proceeds of this old-time banquet will be given to the National Allied Relief Fund.

Mr. James J. Storrow is making no expense to make the program as complete and picturesque as possible. She will herself act as hostess and personally throw open her beautiful old English mansion to the guests.

The festival will begin at noon with a mammoth clambake. Indoor and outdoor sports, archery, football, tennis, croquet, clay pigeon shooting, a bridge tournament and pool will follow.

Seven several old English dances will be given. Tea will be served from 4 to 5 by Russian in native costume.

The Sing Sing Prison exhibit will be a big attraction. Mrs. Storrow is offering prizes for the best article made in the various prison shops. Among the prizes taken within the prison walls and sent to the festival by Warren C. Bernier, who is Mrs. Storrow's brother, will be shown.

SALEM IS TAKEN, 'ENEMY' MOVES ON BOSTON

In the war game now in progress, Salem has been taken and the theoretical entry is marching on Boston. The whole Atlantic fleet has been sent and destroyed by an overwhelming sea force of the "enemy," and what ships have not been sunk have been driven to cover behind the big guns along the coast.

Preliminary exercises and drill have been held at all the forts in the harbor in preparation for the big war game maneuvers which will start today. The fleet of destroyers under Lieutenant Mayo, which put in at the Charlestown Navy Yard, will put to sea, and soon the theoretical attack on the coast defenses of the Hub will have commenced.

Captain Hain said that there would be practically no connection between the naval war game and the operations in the harbor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Frederick MacMonnies, the American sculptor, who has lived thirty-one years in France, has arrived home aboard the French steamer Lochmabau. "Thank God, I'm back in my native land," he said repeatedly. "There comes a time when a man feels he cannot advance much further in art, and that time has come to me. I have come home to end my days."

When the German drive seemed likely to reach Paris, Mr. MacMonnies hid his art treasures in his barn.

Garford Efficiency Proved

When you seek plain, unvarnished facts regarding the efficiency of any piece of machinery you go direct to the user—the man who has paid his good money for its installation.

This applies to motor trucks just as much as to any other mechanical equipment.

We sell Garfords on an out-and-out basis of efficiency.

And we ask you to believe only what we can actually prove by performance.

Garford owners in a great many distinct lines of trade attest their remarkable value.

We quote the Doehler Die Casting Co., Brooklyn, N. Y.:

"As to the comparative results in service rendered by the motor truck as against horse-drawn equipment, our record for another Garford truck is conclusive proof of the satisfactory results obtained."

"During nine months of constant service the truck has more than equalled our expectations and has not been out of service a single day."

"The average haul has been about four tons per trip to all points of shipping via all leading railroads and steamboat lines."

A single Garford not only does the work of several teams but does it in the truck way instead of the horse way.

It is faster—entirely independent of weather and fatigue—stays on the job 24 hours a day if necessary—involves no expense when not working.

If you have deliveries to make—if you have transportation troubles—you need a Garford.

Our complete range of styles and sizes enables us to fill any trucking requirement.

BOSTON PASTORS URGED TO ASSAIL LIQUOR INTERESTS, SEEK ELECTION OF SHAW

The Rev. Field Maguire, pastor of the Baptist Street Baptist Church, Roxbury, today declared the men's meeting of the church, numbering several hundred men, were held to squarely face the liquor problem. He denounced the saloon in no uncertain terms and said that prohibition was the one great issue of the present campaign.

"I voted for William Shaw, the prohibition candidate, in the primaries and I advised every man in my congregation to do the same," said Mr. Maguire. "In my pulpit I told my people that I was head and heels for prohibition and said that no man could call himself a good Christian and not stand for the abolition of the liquor traffic."

"I have to ask all the mothers and children who now sit in the pews of churches where they stand on the question of prohibition who would fight that every one of them was for it. Ask God Almighty where he stands on this issue. He is in favor of it. He would be the good God that He is. Ask ninety per cent. of the drinkable who have been ruined by liquor where they stand on this question and you will find that nine out of ten are for prohibition almost to a man."

"Every day I have among me men who are asking me to witness them sign the pledge. These men are the men who are the very best of the liquor which is killing them. They are the men who are the very best of the liquor which is killing them. They are the men who are the very best of the liquor which is killing them."

"When I was in Cleveland the papers asked all the ministers to preach a sermon on 'The Saloon as a Hell.' I said that the saloon was a hell of a place. The papers came out the following Monday with the headline that Mr. Maguire had said that the saloon was a hell of a place."

as the direct result of the saloon, that we are becoming disgusted with it. Even the poor devils who are its victims hate the stuff."

"I wish to God that there was no such thing as a saloon, as I don't like the product it means out. It complicates every social problem a thousandfold and is constantly working against everything which is good and wholesome in the community."

"I wish to support Mr. Shaw because he is the only man who is completely committed to the total abolition of the drinkable. From the economic and financial side of the question alone, let alone the moral and religious considerations, the taxpayers and the voters cannot afford to countenance the saloon, eating the vital out of society like the great malignant cancer which it is."

"The cost of keeping the poor districts of drunkenness is too much on society. It increases our whole cost of living. We are foolish to allow it. That is the best reason for abolishing the saloon. Not until the saloon is out of the way can we hope to do half what is needed for the moral and spiritual regeneration of mankind."

"My whole men's Brotherhood is lined up squarely for William Shaw. All over the city the men's Brotherhoods are lined up for William Shaw. The Rev. George Luther Cook, pastor of the First Baptist Church, South Boston, today said that the saloon was a hell of a place. The papers came out the following Monday with the headline that Mr. Maguire had said that the saloon was a hell of a place."

where I was raised. It is the most pernicious form of liquor propaganda imaginable."

"Well, what the remedy for all this? National prohibition and a rational prohibition alone. If the voters want to give him wholehearted support to the fast-moving, nationwide freedom from the blight of the saloon—the most damnable blot that ever rested on any other country," said Mr. Myers.

"Every true man ought to vote for prohibition to show his contempt for the politicians of the other parties who have sold themselves as willing slaves to the liquor traffic. The old party politicians are all cowards and dare not take a stand against that which the voters' own consciences had proved to be by far the greatest and most astounding source of crime, poverty, misery and financial loss in the calendar."

"These other cowards have sold their own consciences to the devil, and then, in their platform and speeches, give facts to the unsuspecting voters who ought to think for themselves and to thwart the scheming, conscienceless gang by voting for a principle."

Years ago, they killed by dripping water

Men Were Put to Death

Are You Breaking Down Your Nervous System by Repeated Little Shocks?

In the morning you start out with a spring of fresh energy within you.

In the evening you come back tired, completely worn out.

What change has taken place in your body to make this difference.

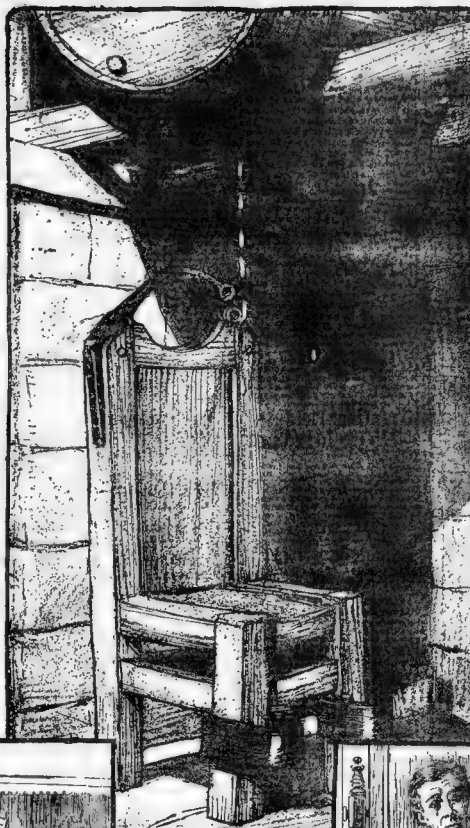

Fatigue Poisoning

Physicians have proved that fatigue produces definite poisonous substances in the system. Ordinarily, Nature throws off these poisons and we are restored to normal again. But when we OVERWORK, our system is LOADED DOWN with these poisons and Nature is unable to completely remove them.

Dr. Mosso, of Turin, Italy, injected the blood of a fatigued dog into the blood of a fresh, untired dog; the latter immediately showed every evidence of fatigue.

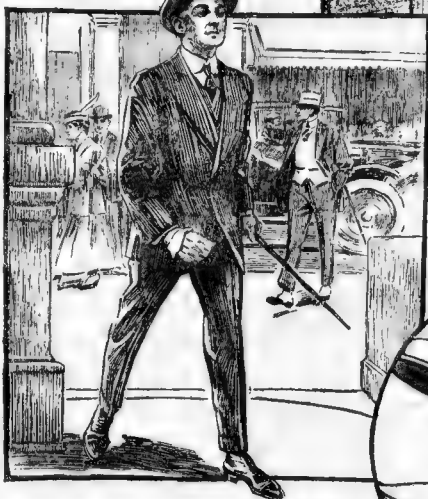

Professor Weichardt, of Berlin, extracted this actual poison from fatigued muscles and found that these fatigue substances consisted of free sarcolactic acid, carbonic acid gas and monopotassium phosphate which is so powerful that after the injection of one-fifteenth of a gram the poisoned muscle is unable to lift a weight which ordinarily would be easy.

Ida M. Tarbell, in her writings on industrial conditions, dwells at length on the injurious effects of Fatigue Poisoning on men-

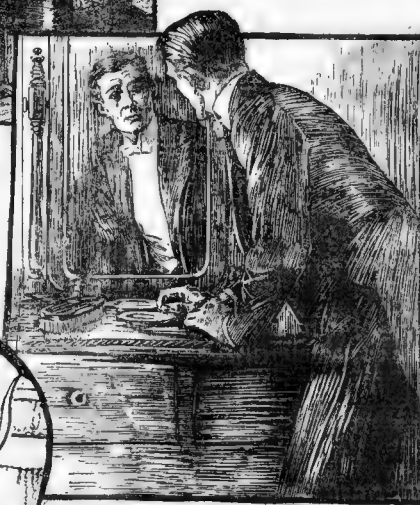

In the days of the Inquisition, men were strapped to chairs in underground dungeons, where water fell drop by drop upon the victim's head. The cumulative effect of these little drops shattered the nervous system and resulted in raving madness and death.

The thousands of little shocks, the jolts and jars, that bombard you all day long in the bustling age of ours, react on your nerves like the repeated drop, drop, drop of dripping water.

tal and physical workers. Harrington Emerson and Frederick W. Taylor, in their efficiency work, recognized the effects of Fatigue Poisoning, and proved its effects on workmen by giving them certain definite intervals of rest during the day, which resulted in more work done in less actual time.

If you are a person of average activity you take about 8,000 steps a day. If you weigh 150 pounds you raise a total of over 600 tons in your daily work—and step down a height greater than that of the Washington Monument.

No wonder the modern way of walking contributes so largely to the formation of fatigue poisons in your system. If we walked as Nature intended—barefoot on soft turf—walking would be beneficial. But, instead, we walk on hard, nail-studded leather, on hard pavements. The repeated shock of each step is a little thing in itself, but the cumulative effect means a dangerous waste of vitality.

The Sensible

Way Out

The continued jar of walking on cement pavements can be removed. The streets and sidewalks can't be changed, but your heels can.

Replace the hard, unyielding leather with heels of live rubber. Have O'Sullivan Heels attached to your shoes to-day. You will notice the difference at once. See how much fresher you feel when you come home at night.

At any shoemaker or dealer; in black, white or tan; for men, women and children. Price, 50c attached.

$400,000,000 Plus—$15.50

They tell us that one European country has the first mentioned sum of money invested in the vastly complicated processes of making just the dyes for clothes.

Four hundred million dollars just for coloring the fabrics! Think of it!

If that amount goes in and comes out for dyes alone in one country, think how many hundreds of millions more must be represented in the making of the woolen fabrics, the silk and cotton linings, the threads, the buttons, etc.

All these millions upon millions stand not only for volume but for tremendous efficiency.

The amount of dyes used in one of the $15.50 suits we place on sale Friday and Saturday costs not more than a few cents. But all the creative energy, all the power for saving waste of these millions of money ultimately run into the production of every one of these $15.50 suits, making it possible to get a suit today for half what a suit not nearly as good cost not many years ago.

And now—on the quiet—there are about sixty $25.00 and $30.00 suits included in this sale for those who have faith and come early.

C. H. WHITE CO

Well, We've Scored Again!

"YOU DON'T MEAN TO SAY THAT SUIT COST ONLY $15.50. IT LOOKS AS WELL AS MY NEW $30 SUIT."

We are ready now—or will be Friday and Saturday—with the best suits you ever saw for the money.

Men's New Fall Suits for $15.50

That's almost all—and almost enough—but there are a few more details—and the story.

The story comes last.

48 Different Patterns in Materials. Consider that.

15 different Cheviots
4 different "Scotchies"
18 different Worsteds
11 different Cassimeres

Sizes from 34 to 48— and every type of figure can be fitted—big, regular or small. English effect as well as styles for "quiet" dressers.

And There are 50 Suits—that are quarter lined with silk, and with silk sleeve lining, for those who like this bit of luxury—but $15.50 just the same.

The Story in 55 Words: About 6 months ago the head of the Men's Clothing Department arranged for this October Sale. By giving the tailors such long notice and a chance to work up the suits when they had little or nothing else to keep them busy, he naturally secured a good price deal without taking it out of the garments.

So Now the Countersign for the Day: "I'd Like One." It Will "Go" if You're Early Enough.

CATARRH GERMS KILLED!

Only Way to End Catarrh. Wonderful Relief Comes From Breathing the Pure Healing Air of Hyomei Through This New Pocket Inhaling Device.

If you have catarrh and want to get rid of it you must kill the germs which cause catarrh and which are now living, breeding, thriving and multiplying by the millions far up in the recesses of your nose and throat.

The temporary relief you have been finding in sprays, douches, creams, ointments, lotions, etc., which for a while open your clogged nostrils and let you breathe easier, fail to cure catarrh to stay cured because they do not and cannot kill the catarrh germs which cause it.

There is just one way to really reach and destroy the catarrh germ life in your system and thus end catarrh forever and that is by breathing through the little inhaling device shown in this illustration, a powerful but pleasant and healing germicidal air called Hyomei. Hyomei is a germ killing liquid, but you do not swallow it. Simply pour a few drops of Hyomei into this inhaler, and then put the inhaler in your mouth and breathe its healing, germ destroying air—breathe and then put the inhaler in your mouth and breathe its healing, germ destroying air—breathe and then put the inhaler in your mouth and breathe its healing, germ destroying air.

That's all you have to do. Every time you inhale a breath of Hyomei through this little inhaling device you are drawing into your raw, swollen, inflamed and germ laden membranes an agreeable medicated air which will not only absolutely and positively destroy every trace of Catarrh germ life it reaches but will stop the discharge and heal and reduce all inflammation and swelling and open up your clogged nose and stopped up air passages. It gives wonderful relief in just two or three minutes, while if you use it two or three times a day for a few weeks it will completely banish Catarrh and every symptom of catarrh.

CATARRH GERMS KILLED!

Only Way to End Catarrh. Wonderful Relief Comes From Breathing the Pure Healing Air of Hyomei Through This New Pocket Inhaling Device.

If you have catarrh and want to get rid of it you must kill the germs which cause catarrh and which are now living, breeding, thriving and multiplying by the millions far up in the recesses of your nose and throat.

The temporary relief you have been finding in sprays, douches, creams, ointments, lotions, etc., which for a while open your clogged nostrils and let you breathe easier, fail to cure catarrh to stay cured because they do not and cannot kill the catarrh germs which cause it.

There is just one way to really reach and destroy the catarrh germ life in your system and thus end catarrh forever and that is by breathing through the little inhaling device shown in this illustration, a powerful but pleasant and healing germicidal air called Hyomei. Hyomei is a germ killing liquid, but you do not swallow it. Simply pour a few drops of Hyomei into this inhaler, and then put the inhaler in your mouth and breathe its healing, germ destroying air—breathe and then put the inhaler in your mouth and breathe its healing, germ destroying air.

That's all you have to do. Every time you inhale a breath of Hyomei through this little inhaling device you are drawing into your raw, swollen, inflamed and germ laden membranes an agreeable medicated air which will not only absolutely and positively destroy every trace of Catarrh germ life it reaches but will stop the discharge and heal and reduce all inflammation and swelling and open up your clogged nose and stopped up air passages. COMBINATION LATELY
A post heard yesterday that President Wilson had declined for equal office with the other nations. It was said that he had done so on a year ago but it was not until he was really elected. I consider him as much on this as on his engagement. If, as is said, he is to be elected, it will be followed by this one.

A great change has come over the people of the United Kingdom regarding the political equality for the sexes. The women, formerly in the second class, are now in the first class. They are now in the first class. They are now in the first class.

The change has been brought about because the women have been in the first class for some time. They have been in the first class for some time. They have been in the first class for some time.

TOM ENWRIGHT LOST TO ELEVEN

By SYDE LYNES.

Marston got in his first hard wallop at the Harvard football eleven when Enwright, the big fullback, was hit by the corner of the team, was injured in the scrimmage with the second eleven in the stadium.

His line to the team is a really strong thing, and while it is given out from the fullback, Enwright is not the only one who is not seriously hurt. A wounded knee, however, is a real handicap when the game is in progress, particularly when the game is in progress, particularly when the game is in progress.

There have been many cases where an injury of the kind has laid a man out indefinitely, and while it is given out from the fullback, Enwright is not the only one who is not seriously hurt. A wounded knee, however, is a real handicap when the game is in progress, particularly when the game is in progress, particularly when the game is in progress.

RED SOX SHOWED IMPROVED FORM IN DOUBLE VICTORY

By SYDE LYNES.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Manager Bill Carrigan, today using regulars in today's getaway combat with the Yankees on the Polo Grounds, and if nobody gets hurt, his squad of twenty-three eligibles for the World's Series, which opens tomorrow in Philadelphia, will be sound class through.

Barry, out for about a week going to a carbuncle on his thigh, causing him pain every time he exerted himself, in his game and on the strident Philadelphia "fans" are well acquainted with Manager Barry and the great heights he generally attains in his post-game antics.

This fall they will find that Connie Mack's old shortstop is now just about the clearest second sacker in the American League.

Eddie Collins, the generally accepted best one-bag in the American League, has not covered the station a while since Barry since the Holy Cross boy joined the Sox and switched infield position.

Henriksen, the Red Sox's other original, while still limping slightly, is rapidly getting over his lameness. He went up to the mound with both games with the Yankees yesterday; in fact, wound up the concluding contest in Lewis position.

Boston "fans" can rest assured that Henriksen will be ready for emergency duty in the World Series.

SOX PLAYED GOOD BALL.

The Red Sox at last hit it up on legs in the sixth drill with the club of Donovan. All the way in both games, Carrigan was afforded superb pitching, especially by Shore and Leonard, the two hurlers carried to the heavy work in the two battles in Philadelphia; the club's defense, in the manner was air tight, Scott settling down and turning in two excellent performances, Chas. and Thomas, especially the former, taking turns catching high-class games, while the hitting was sharp and sequential, if not too heavy.

It's the old story: it's time to win, starting the road trip by losing three out of four, with a drawn and a loss among the Boston boys until they rallied and fixed the Yankees twice, running a narrow margin, up, rolled, however, down, even if it had much to say on the trip, remarked the manager. The next day, he really believe we are going to win, he said.

He told me Alexander has not had his bump this morning. Well, that's all right. He'll be all right tomorrow.

RED SOX HAPPY AT LATE VICTORY

By SYDE LYNES.

Victory in anything and everything, when the Sox are in it, is always brings joy. The Red Sox knew they were going to win a great ball club. Their one fear all along of getting out of the game of the day, winning 60-40 split was that the Phillies would get in the way.

GALLANT MEETS CALLAHAN HERE

Gilbert Gallant of Chelsea and Frankie Callahan of Brooklyn, N. Y., will meet in a return bout of twelve rounds at the Atlas A. A. next Tuesday night. There will be several "fans" after the baseball game who will want to take in the boxing matches, and for this reason the club directors decided to offer the sports a "bout in which plenty of action would be promised.

Callahan and Callahan furnished one of the best bouts of the season a few weeks ago. Callahan lost the decision, but it was a close one at that.

The Chelsea fighter is anxious to wipe out the defeat and feels sure that he will reverse the tables on the New Yorker the same as he did when he lost to Sumner Robinson in a return bout. Gallant is the only fighter in the lightweight class that Boston has in the office, and he is well liked for his activities and willingness to fight all the time he is in the ring.

If Gilbert happens to drop the verdict to Callahan for the second time it virtually means that Boston will have no one in the lightweight class to defend the title.

TODAY'S GAME VALUABLE.

Carrigan himself is much brighter and evidently feeling far better today. "After all, I'm glad that the New York club ordered that today's game be played," stated the Boston pilot. "I have been keeping my own counsel, but knew that the boys needed more work than they have been getting to be on edge for the Phillies. They came through in great style yesterday and today's game should put the proper goals on their play."

Carrigan was asked his plans following the completion of the World's Series. "It's the straight fly the Maine woods and I hope to get away the day after the last game is played," was General Bill's rejoinder.

"How about accepting an offer to appear in vaudeville in the event that the Red Sox win the title and you should receive a huge offer?" Carrigan was asked.

"I don't think they can coax me into going on the stage, fellows. I'm thinking when behind the footlights at Town Hall Tuesday night," replied the Boston manager. "I have a lot of friends and don't think anything will come up to make me alter my plans."

Tris Speaker also plans an assault on the money and carboys up in Maine before he shows over. Little known fact, the former Red Sox catcher, now Bill Donovan's assistant, will be in the party, now being made up by Tris of Texas and several Boston friends.

ALEXANDER IN FAVORITE.

While some of the New York baseball critics have it today that Carrigan will not oppose Alexander with Shore in tomorrow's battle, it is thought on all sides in the Boston party that the slanted Red Sox will draw the assignment.

Alexander is the whole thing in New York. One and all claim he is the best pitcher in the game. He is the reason why some of the experts think Carrigan will not be in the dugout tomorrow, not eating to after the hopeless case.

Further, they are confident he will come through and turn a victory. Carrigan only worked shore in one inning. High, Peckinpaugh and Boone, three of Bill Donovan's best pitchers, were whiffed out in order, the trio striking out on fourteen pitched balls. Peckinpaugh, with a 4 and 2 call, was badly fooled on a wide shot. Boone worked shore to a like count. Then, a fast one with a sharp hook caught him flat footed.

Last Chance to See Braves in Game This Year

By RIGHT FIELD.
This is positively the last call for "small time" baseball in Boston. With today's game between the Braves and Giants the National League curtain is rung down for the season.

Neph and Barnes, having been ready for the call for the past two days, may tear up for the pitching job today. For the Giants Litter and Starn are available. Probably both Hallings and McIlwain will and several young men into the game.

Spears Reports to Dartmouth Coaches

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 7.—Spears, the Dartmouth basketball player, has been out of the game for ten days, has reported to the coaches and will probably play Saturday against Tufts. Only a light practice was held, allowing the men to rest from the heavy scrimmage of Tuesday.

Germany Having Yielded, Will President Wilson Now Call England to Account?

THE negotiations with Germany to restrict submarine warfare within its proper limits have been gratifyingly successful.

This successful conclusion is all the more peculiarly gratifying to this newspaper because it is susceptible of proof that the President has followed exactly the lines of negotiation contended for by this newspaper.

In the first note to Germany, dated May 13, Mr. Wilson demanded that Germany entirely abandon submarine warfare upon the commerce of her enemies. He said:

"The government of the United States, therefore, desires to call the attention of the Imperial German Government to the practical IMPOSSIBILITY OF EMPLOYING SUBMARINES IN THE DESTRUCTION OF COMMERCE without disregarding those rules of fairness, reason, justice and humanity which all modern opinion regards as imperative."

This was nothing less than a demand that Germany cease submarine warfare upon British commerce.

Now, manifestly, this was an untenable position, since the only possible rightful concern the American government could have was for American citizens, AMERICAN COMMERCE and AMERICAN RIGHTS.

Discussing the whole matter in a signed editorial on June 7, Mr. Hearst pointed out the untenableness of this diplomatic position and urged its abandonment. He said:

"A note thus wisely confined to the assertion of AMERICAN RIGHTS ALONE will insure the continuance of our present peace."

"Let us stand firmly in defence of our just rights, even though we must maintain them by force of arms, but let us not precipitate the country into unnecessary war by going beyond our rights and demanding the privilege of dictating to foreign countries a matter which have not yet received the definition and sanction of international law."

This sound advice the President finally followed. He abandoned the ridiculous demand that Germany cease submarine warfare altogether, and confined later negotiations "to the assertion of American rights alone," and has thus, as this newspaper predicted, "insured the continuance of our present peace."

Discarding the offensive brusqueness of the first Lansing note and confining our demands, as this newspaper urged, to the things we had the right to demand, Mr. Wilson has come to a peaceful and thoroughly satisfactory agreement with Germany.

Had Mr. Wilson continued to insist upon the total suppression of German submarine warfare, had he continued to make unreasonable demands in un diplomatic language, he would have undoubtedly precipitated trouble with Germany. But, consciously or unconsciously, he has followed the advice of this newspaper.

He has "demanded our rights," to repeat the AMERICAN'S last words, and naturally no nation is prepared to deny us our rights.

But while the controversy with Germany has thus come to such a gratifying conclusion by the abandonment of the first indefensible diplomatic position and of the offensive and un diplomatic tone of Secretary Lansing's first note and the adoption of more sensible methods, the AMERICAN PEOPLE'S controversy with Great Britain has by no means been satisfactorily handled by the American government.

American dignity and American neutrality alike demand that the President apply to England the same just and wise diplomatic policy which the Hearst newspapers advised toward Germany.

The essence of the Hearst newspapers' contention was and is that this government should demand its full rights, firmly and impartially, from ALL nations.

As Mr. Hearst said in the signed editorial from which we have quoted:

"Immunity for neutral ships and cargoes, inviolability for neutral rights, must be conceded and maintained BOTH BY GERMANY AND ENGLAND, by Teutons and allies alike; must be DEMANDED AND ENFORCED by the United States or by the United States in conjunction with other neutral Powers."

By following the advice of the Hearst newspapers, the President has secured a proper and peaceful solution of our difficulties with Germany, and there is no doubt that by following the same good policy he can arrive at a proper and peaceful solution of the English complications.

England has no right at all to confiscate our beef cargoes, to make our cotton contraband, to seize our ships bound to neutral ports, to restrict our trade, suppress our commerce and limit our free rights upon the seas—all of which things she has done without warrant of international law.

And England will abandon her wrongful position as soon as the administration adopts the same attitude of courteous firmness toward England that it has adopted toward Germany.

Let us sum up the whole situation by repeating the editorial words of this newspaper uttered at the very beginning of these controversies:

"Our right and our duty to call Germany to account for attacks upon American commerce and all well-defined American rights of life and property were clear enough. Our duty to call Great Britain to account for all attacks or interferences directed at our commerce or upon any American rights of life or property is equally clear."

We have called Germany to account and have been accorded full satisfaction by Germany. We have NOT called England to account, and her attacks upon and interferences with American commerce and American rights not only continue, but have multiplied until they are intolerable to the spirit of a free people.

Consider these facts:

The British government, through its board of trade, asserts the right to supervise and regulate American commerce with neutral nations, not only to regulate and supervise but to FORBID any commerce between the United States and neutral nations which she deems injurious to her present or future interests.

Our wooden merchants are denied the right of importing raw wool unless they enter into an agreement not to sell the manufactured products anywhere except in England or Canada.

American rubber manufacturers, as the AMERICAN showed the other day, must sign an agreement with England or go out of business. The agreement enforced by Great Britain contains the following clause:

"WE WILL NOT SELL ANY MANUFACTURED OR PARTLY MANUFACTURED RUBBER GOODS TO ANY PERSON IN THE UNITED STATES WITHOUT SATISFYING OURSELVES THAT THERE IS NO INTENTION ON HIS PART TO EXPORT OR RESELL THE SAME FOR EXPORTATION TO ANY COUNTRY IN EUROPE OTHER THAN GREAT BRITAIN, FRANCE, RUSSIA OR ITALY, OTHERWISE THAN BY SHIPPING TO THE UNITED KINGDOM AND RESHIPING FROM THERE UNDER LICENSE TO BE OBTAINED FOR EXPORT THEREFROM."

This action by Great Britain not only reduces the declaration of London as to contraband to a "scrap of paper," but as Albert Bostwell Hart of Harvard says, "it makes a scrap heap of papers of all international law."

We can imagine even an English colony revolting against such a usage.

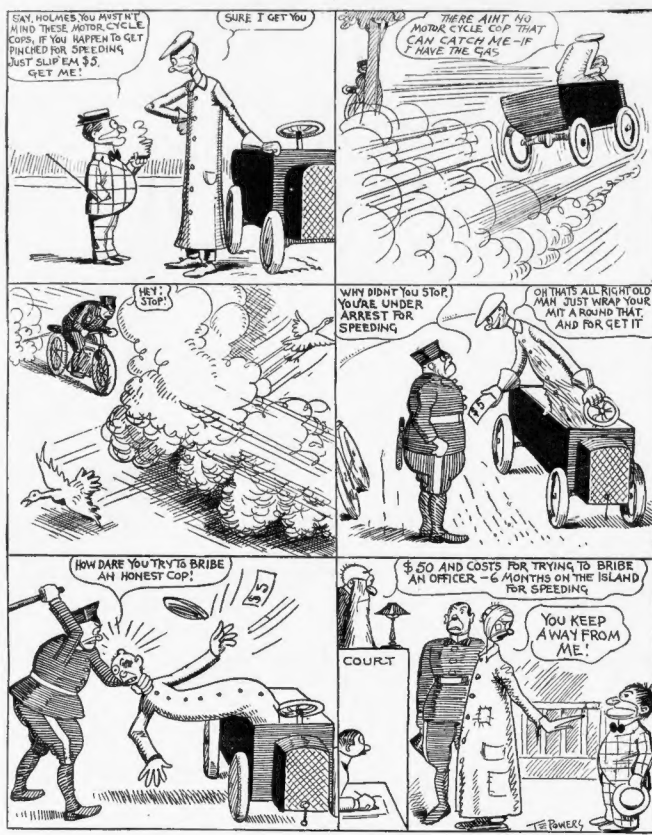

But there is as yet no sufficient spirit of revolt against England in our White House or State Department. The Mexican policy of watchful waiting has been extended to Great Britain.

Not only is she permitted to do exactly as she likes with our commerce, regulating it, restricting it, or even forbidding it, but we supply her with all the munitions required to carry on her war, and are about to lend her all the money she needs to prolong the war.

Eugenics and the Soldier Lad

By Rev. Mabel Irwin

THE heart of many a woman, working for the uplift of her sex, is filled with bitterness when she reads of the encouragement given to soldiers by the press of England and Germany to hastily marry before going to war. They cry out that the European war has set back the woman's cause two thousand years; that the world of men is again regarding women simply as a "breeder of food for cannon"; and on the face of it, it does look like a turning back of the clock of woman's advancement.

But for woman to win out in this battle for her rights her faith must be as strong that nothing—not even war, with all its horrors—can shake it. The woman's hour is here—not to be turned back—and she should begin to see that the matter of the destiny of nations lies primarily in her hands, not in man's; that since it is she that bears and brings to birth all the warriors that shall ever be it lies with her to say whether these sons of hers shall go forth to battle with other men—in a fratricidal war—or whether they shall learn at the mother's knee that "He that ruleth his spirit is better than he that taketh a city."

And again: Whatever may be the purpose of the prelates who thus encourage marriage under such circumstances, the probability is that to the lovers themselves, the soldier and his loved one, this encouragement comes as a special boon. If so, it may not result in no dire a thing as prophesied.

Should little children be born to these girl-wives left behind, would they not rather have, no, rather than to separate with no bond between them to comfort them in their waiting and possible bereavement? Dreadful as is war in its effect upon future generations, and from a eugenic point of view, because of the swift loss of life, because of the children born from these hasty unions may be of a particularly fine order?

Not yet had the cruelty and lust of war, which is incited by carnage, taken possession of the soldier lad; only the spirit of patriotism and the willingness to sacrifice his life, if need be, in his country's call, the quick pulsing of his blood as in imagination he marches on to victory.

While to the heart of the woman who loves him, and would gladly have married him under any circumstances, there is a pride in being a soldier's bride. There is a welling-up of tenderness toward him who now goes to battle for home and native land.

These conditions of mind and heart would be conducive to the besting and bearing of—of—of a generation of warriors eager to get away from love, strong and tender—of a race of men and women who, working together in freedom, might inaugurate—instead of future wars—a reign of peace that should be without end.

And in this instance if these hastily arranged marriages should prove to be but the craft of war-like men, may we not believe that the craft, like "The wealth of man," shall be made to praise Him?

Overhead Charges

WHEN Jones went out to dine last week, a lady, with a smile, stepped up to him as he came in and took his "new" title. And when he got it later on, her eyes were so intense, when Jones gazed in their tranquil depths, he gave her fifty cents.

NEXT evening at another place a vision at the gate took Jones' hat to have and hold the while he sat and ate. And when she gave it back to him, so dulcet were her tones, so full of sweetness, that they shook a dollar out of Jones.

ANOTHER night, another meal, another passing chat with still another pretty girl who harbored Jones' hat. And this one's hair was golden brown, and with his heart a-thrill Jones left in her white, slender palm a new two-dollar bill.

SAME sort of scene; same sort of place, new maiden at the door. She removed the belly from his mitt and gave a check therefor. Her glance upon his beaming brow left like enchanting balm. And when Jones left the place she had a five-spot in her palm.

TEN dollars for a shining tile, all silver to the touch. All well dressed gentlemen agree is not a bit too much. But though such lads a man like Jones could well afford to buy, he doesn't wear them any more—the upkeep is too high.

There are Various Ways to Provide for Babies

One man, desiring to provide for his baby, bought $15,000 worth of war stock and now the baby has $164,000. And the munitions made by the company whose stock the baby owns will, if wisely expended, render fifteen or twenty other babies fatherless and unprovided for.

REVELATIONS OF AN INTERNATIONAL REV. I shall never forget that day in the Marston market. "Hinderburg," said the Kaiser to his most famous general, "I want you to meet H. V. D." (for so I am known to every monarch in Europe.) "H. V. D. is our most useful man," continued the Kaiser.

"Umph," replied the great commander. "And, by the way, Hinderburg," continued the Kaiser, "what are your plans for tomorrow's campaign?" "You may speak freely before your friend H. V. D."

"Umph," responded Von Hinderburg. "Well, H. V. D.," said his Imperial Majesty, putting my shoulder, "you had better be on your way."

"That night I left for London. How was I to get there? Ah, but that is one of my secrets."
